Bruce Duckworth

Creative Director Turner Duckworth (United Kingdom)

Bruce is the Duckworth in Turner Duckworth, the brand design agency based in London and San Francisco.

He started the company in 1992 with his friend and fellow designer David Turner. Bruce runs the London office and is jointly responsible for Turner Duckworth's creative output with David Turner. Both studios work collaboratively on all projects, which gives a unique design viewpoint, but means Bruce has had to work late for the last 19 years because of the time differences. No pain, no gain!

Bruce has won over 200 design awards including D&AD Yellow pencil, DBA Design Effectiveness, Design week, Cannes Lions Grand Prix, Clio, and a Grammy award amongst others. His work and opinions have been published in many design books magazines all over the world. Bruce is in demand as a speaker for Design and Marketing conferences as well as Design education.

Bruce graduated from Kingston Polytechnic with an Honours Degree in Graphic Design in 1985. Worked as a designer at Michael Peters, Minale Tattersfield and Lewis Moberly before setting up Turner Duckworth.
